Milwaukee at Baltimore. American League Teams' Standing.

National League Clubs' Standing.

Detroit made its second appearance at American Park yesterday afternoon and once more defeated Washington, the score being 10 to 6. It was a regular old-fashioned slugging match, both sides breaking almost even on the number of safe hits. but the Wolverines were lucky enough to bunch several of them in the sixth, one of which was a home run while three were on bases, and, of couse, it proved disastrous to the Senators.

Carrick was on the rubber for Washingcon, and for the second time he was given good drubbing, the visitors banging the ball throughout the game, but his support from Quinn and Coughlin was very poor and cost runs. Cronin, who did the twiriing for Detroit, was also given a hearty reception by the Washingtons, but they were unfortunate in not getting their safe hits while Senators were resting on the bases. Just how hard both pitchers were hit can be gleaned from the fact that each team had ten batters left on the bases.

The feature of the game was the batting of Catcher Bill Clarke and First Baseman Shaw. Senator Bill hit the ball from first to last, getting four singles straight off the reel, and then wound up the day's work with a beautiful drive over the left-field fence for a home run, making five hits out of that many times at the bat. Shaw is a new man to the American League, Manager Stallings but recenty kidnaping him from the Western Association, but he is evidently fit for first-class company. He fielded his position at first base in splendid style and at the bat had three singles and a home run.

Umpire Haskell has been doing fairly good work on the local grounds, but yes-terday he missed a play that came near creating a riot. Barrett was on second and Gleason hit a grounder to Coughlin at third. The latter quickly turned and touched the runner while yet a dozen yards from the bag, and then seeing he couldn't cut off Gleason, held the ball and walked after Barrett. This latter action evidently deceived Haskell, as he called the runner safe, and immediately every Senator on the field surrounded the umpire with protests. But it did not alter the umpire's mind and several of the Senators were lucky to get off without a fine or being Both teams scored in the first inning, Detroit getting one and Washington two. Casey was the first batter up, Quinn and Grady taking care of him. Barrett walked and stole second. Gleason then hit into the play already described and two men were safe on first and third. Holmes hit to pitcher and Barrett was nailed at the plate, 'proving it." as the boys say. Shaw then got in his first single and it sent Gleason over the plate. For Washington, Mercer walked, and should have been doubled at first on Quinn's fly to Gleason, but the latter made a bad throw to first. "Win" then stole second. Dungan hit into left for a single and continued on to second on Nance's error, Mercer scoring. Foster then flied out and Grady reached first on Gleason's fumble. Bill Clarke then singled to right and Dungan crossed the plate.

then went to work again in the fourth Beulow reached first on Quinn's error and Yeager singled to center. Cronin tried to sacrifice, but was safe on Carrick's fum-ble, filling the bases. Casey then singled over second, scoring Beulow and Yeager. over second, scoring Beulow and Yeager. Washington got one of these back in the same inning. With two out Quinn doubled same inning. With two out Quinn doubled to right and came home on Dungan's double to the left-field fence. In the fifth Shaw hit for a home run, but the locals kept right after the visitors and tied the score. After Grady had been retired. Clarke singled to center. Clingman popped up a fly to Gleason, but the latter dropped t, and then caught Clarke at second, as he runner was compelled to hug his base to prevent a double play. Coughlin then singled to right, sending Clingman to third. and then Pitcher Cronin obligingly sent in a wild pitch and the Senators' shortstop crossed the plate.

Then came the sixth inning with its mixup of base hits and errors. Barrett singled to center and Gleason reached first on Quinn's error, a double play dying at its birth. Holmes singled to left, filling the birth. Holmes singled to left, filling the bases. Shaw singled out into Mercer's territory, scoring Barrett, but "Win's" good throw to Clarke nailed Gleason at the plate. Nance singled to center, scoring Holmes, and Beulow filled the bases on Coughlin's error, a low throw to first. Mr. Yeager than the processity walked to the plate and then innocently walked to the plate and deceived Carrick into sending a curve over the plate. It was just what the batter wanted, and when the ball sailed over the left-field fence four runs were being tab-bed up for the Wolverines, making six runs That was the last heard from Detroit, but it was "good and plenty." In the ninth Washington got two earned runs on Grady's single and Clarke's home run, and then the game was over. Gear batted for Carrick in the eighth and went on the ruber in the ninth, but it was too late to save

SHOULD BE A FINE CONTEST. Comorrow Night's Race Between Nelson and Pierce.

What ought to be one of the best races of the season at the Coliseum will take place tomorrow night. The meeting of Johnny Nelson, the little Swede, and Burns Pierce, the Nova Scotia fisherman, in a twenty-mile contest, promises to be of unusual interest from gun to gun. Four of the swiftest pacing machines on the eastern circuit will be engaged to furnish pace, and, barring accidents, fast time ought to e a feature of the race. Nelson and Pierce are among the top-notch middle distance riders, and are con-sidered by many the best in the business. As each rider has scored a victory over the other, the race will give the local public a chance to witness the speediest of the three races. Nelson has been doing wonderful work of late on the northern tracks. He came off victor last week at Providence in several of the cleverest races he has ever ridden. Much of his success is due to his excellent pacing teams, which can always be depended upon when the time comes for him to "jump out" and make one of his sensational finishes.

Pierce gave a splendid exhibition recently in this city when he defeated Edouard Taylore, the French champion, on which occasion he won scores of friends. He rode rings around the Frenchman, but it is hardly possible that he will be able to repeat that performance to many sixty with the contraction. peat that performance tomorrow night with Nelson. Taking it all in all the race promises to be the feature of the meet and to eclipse any race for the same distance ever pulled off on the local bowl.

From indications the amateur events will from indications the amateur events will furnish plenty of good sport, and as many riders are entered in the different events exciting finishes may be looked for. The amateurs have had full sway on the track the past few days and have taken advantage of it, training for tomorrow's races race, which is on the boards for tomorrow night. Four teams have so far entered, and it will be a lively battle from start to finish. The other events will include a one-mile novice and a mile handicap, tending to make an interesting series of events open to amateur riders.

NOTES OF THE WHEEL.

The contestants in the tandem nursuit race tomorrow night will have to do some fast riding to beat Elliott and Hoover. They are going in well prepared.

Manager Bryan is seriously considering the idea of giving an "aged" race at one of the coming race meets. Imagine such old-timers as "Billy" Robertson, "Pap" Davidson, "Jack" Wood, Fred Moore, Bill" Jose and several others lined up at he tape! The race would undoubtedly atract widespread attention. Tandems are at a premium since the announcement of a tandem pursuit race. Seven of the best middle-distance bicycle riders have signed contracts to appear along a regular circuit of meets at New York, Boston, Providence, Philadelphia and Pittsburg during July, August and September. The riders will include McFarland, "Jimmy" Michael, "Tom" Linton, Champion, Stinson, Walthour and Nelson.

The all-amateur meet scheduled for last Saturday night has been postponed until this coming Saturday night, owing to the numerous rains of last week. Tom Linton, the Welshman, expects to arrange races with all the great flyers this paigning, believes himself in the best condition of his life. Linton wants another shy at Jimmy Michael, as the two, aland Charles Elliott and F. Hoover.

In the bowl game, it is claimed, the motor occupies the relative position of the pitcher in a base ball game. If the motor or the pitcher should go wrong the game is lost by the side unfortunate enough to have the faulty motor or pitcher. The good motor or pitcher works to the benefit of the lucky ones represented by it. So it is in the bowl game. While the pitcher and the motor are essential to success, there are other things needed both in the bowl there must be a man good enough to follow the big machine, and in the latter there must be men who can field and bat. The parallel between the two is claimed to be so perfect that it might be carried on indefinitely.

Voter's Splendid Exhibition. Five favorites won yesterday at Sheeps nead, and the form players and the racegoing public generally had a field day. A big midweek crowd was attracted by the good card and the perfect June weather, and they were rewarded not only by pecuniary gain, but by some exceptionally good performances by the thoroughbreds, who were in fine fettle. The track was lightning fast, and, although most of the successful horses won by wide margins, remarkably good time was the rule, and two track records were broken.

Mr. Keene's wonderful horse Voter again showed himself to be the finest article in

He packed 133 pounds, the top weight, and ran six furlongs over the main course in 1.122-5, equaling the track record, made by Waltzer in 1895, with only 105 pounds up. The great sprinter ambled out ahead in the first few strides, and after that was always anywhere from eight to four length shead of his field, winning, pulled up, by the latter margin, Had there been any pace made for him new figures would surely have been hung up. After carrying Amos Rusie for more than two months at a big salary and having his services in but three games during all that time, the Cincinnati club has come to the conclusion that it is a worst come to the "Maud Muller," an operetta presented by the pupils of the Laurel High School last Mr. Brush has notified Rusie that he will have to be in good condition and pitch good ball by the time the team returns from the east or he will be cast adrift.

One of the funniest scenes on record occurred in the eighth. Hart was on third, when McGraw got four hells. night in the Academy of Music, proved to be very successful in the way of entertainment and reflected credit on the participants and those having the play in charge. The hall was crowded with friends of the pupils, who warmly applauded the efforts of the youthful players. Walter Brown, as "John Muller," made the hit of the even ing, and Miss Mae Brown as "Mrs. Muller," with Miss Edna Beall as "Maud Muller came in for a large share of the plaudits American League players have refused to pay their dues to the Ball Players' ro-tective Association, and, in spite of the ef-forts of Chief Zimmer and Hughie Jenof the audience. Harvey Stanley, in the character of "The Judge," acted his part in a very able manner, as did also D. Ham-liton, impersonating "Mr. Muller."

At the conclusion of the entertainment the floor was cleared and the audience par-ticipated in the pleasures of dancing until a nings, the secretary, that union seems to have failed of its purpose. Most of the Assessor Submits Adverse Report. Mr. H. H. Darneille, the District assessor has submitted an adverse report upon the application of W. Mosby Williams for the remission of penalties and interest on a tax item for certain clients, saying:

"It is for the years 1897 and 1896 that the applicant requests remission of penalties and interest for the reason that the assessment of the property in the name of Matilda Clark after her death invalidated the assessment. It is submitted that it the assessment. It is submitted that it was not then incumbent upon the office to transfer property acquired by will, except where the parties interested filed a copy of same in this office and requested a transfer of title. This not having been done, it is presumed that they acquiesced in the manner in which the assessments were made.

"It also appears that the heirs of Matilda Clark have no interest in this property at this time, as the title is now in the name of Albert Marshall. The case of John R. Shields, referred to by Mr. Williams in his communication, is not considered analogous to the facts in this.
